FOREWORD

The Krishi Vigyan Kendra (North Goa) has been doing yeomen service to the farming community since its inception in 1983 and has been actively perusing all the Transfer of technology programmes since then like Lab to land, Research cum Demonstrations, National demonstrations, On farm testing and Front line demonstrations on proven technologies besides Capacity Building Programme like On and Off Campus Trainings and participation in important Extension Activities.

Though the number of participants and stake holders in this endeavor today crosses more than 15,000, an attempt has been made by KVK to document the directory of 100 successful stakeholders throughout the State who can be role models for the farmers in the first volume of the "Progressive Farmer's Dairy".

The details of these farmers would serve as a ready reckoner to have mutual contacts among the community so that the fruits of research and extension work carried out by joint efforts of KVK and the listed stakeholders encourage them to join in the technology transfer efforts.

I congratulate the KVK team for bringing out this valuable document in a record time and believe that the publication will be useful to the other KVKs within the zone as well as the District and Taluka level agencies to further spread the useful knowledge in the field of multi disciplinary agriculture.

Dr. N. P. Singh

Director

ICAR Research Complex for Goa
Old Goa, North Goa (GOA) 403 402

Preface

It gives me immense satisfaction to bring out the first volume of "Progressive Farmer's Dairy" to acknowledge the twenty eight years of mutual partnership of KVK since its inception in 1983.

While the KVK has been regularly bringing out the data on various filed activities like Lab to land, Research cum Demonstrations, National demonstrations, On Farm Testing and the Frontline Demonstrations besides Capacity Building of Stake holders at its annual meetings over the years. Recognition and demonstration of the farmers, was a long felt need which the KVK has tried to accomplish as per the guidance and concurrence from the Director.

I, wish to complement all the Scientist, Subject Matter Specialists in each of the disciplines for taking the initiatives to document the valuable work and achievement of individual farmers in their respective fields who has shown the relevance of the technology application in their respective vocation. I, duly acknowledge the help received from Dr. A. R. Desai, Senior Scientist (Horticulture), Dr. K. K. Manohara, Scientist, Dr. B. K. Swain, Senior Scientist (Poultry Science) and Mr. P. Tufani, Programme Coordinator, South Goa in preparing this document. In this first volume we have covered 100 farmers. Remaining farmers will be covered in our successive volumes.

I, would also like to acknowledge the continuing support received during these years from the Zonal Project Directorate, Transfer of Technology Project (ICAR), Bangaluru for its constant guidance in achieving our mandate over the years.

I, sincerely hope that this publication would go a long way to serve as a reference material for Taluka level as well as District level administration from Mutual benefit and achieve the goal of technology transfer in agriculture in the state.
